

Terms of Use

All information contained on this website is for information purposes only. This website is not intended to provide legal or other advice on any particular subject. The transmission of information from this website is not intended to create and does not create an attorney-client relationship between Dr. Künzle and the user. Dr. Künzle is not responsible for any errors or omissions or for the results obtained from the use of this information. Dr. Künzle is not responsible for the content of third parties that can be accessed via this website. Please note that communication by e-mail is neither secure nor confidential. Dr. Künzle assumes no liability for any breach of attorney-client privilege in e-mail communications. Although he checks his e-mails regularly, Dr. Künzle cannot guarantee a timely response to orders received by e-mail.